Mrudul,

I wanted to provide some formal feedback on Chris' engagement at The Grommet. Below are a few details on the engagement; however, I would encourage you to reach out for any further details.

Chris has led efforts to document existing landscape and define future state requirements during a complicated discover period to update The Grommet's marketplace. I mention complicated because we have multiple high-level stakeholders across two major companies, but we have no stakeholders to help define requirements or truly envision the detailed future of their requirements.

He has:

- Outlined initial discover plan

- Organized and led all requirement sessions

- Documented current state

- Outline future state processes

- Defined future state requirements

- Onboarded technical team and offshore functional support

- Participated in steering committee meetings

- Created thorough weekly updates to share during steering committee

His leadership and attention to detail have made this engagement run well. I am very thankful to have him as part of the team.

Thanks!

Steph
